Carmel Sand Castle Contest Sunday

Who will win the Golden Shovel in this year's Great Carmel Sand Castle Contest on Sunday? Above Grand Sand Marshal Donald Brown is seen presenting the overall grand prize award to last year's winners. He invites all Carmelites "To relax, have a good time while enjoying Sunday on the beach."

Those that desire may compete in the two categories of the fifth annual sand castle contest. They are Novice Sand Pile (least hampered by adults); and Advanced Sand Box. This category should feature originality, imagination and freedom of expression, even political impact. "A nice smile," Don Brown stresses may help castle builders in this class influence the judges.

These august personages will include several members of the Monterey Bay chapter of the American Institute of Architects, sponsor of the sand castle contest. The architect judges will be Head Judge Boris V. Jacobowsky, George Kuska, Don Goodhue, Don Wald and Ted Minnis, president of local AIA chapter. Lest lofty architectural concepts be overemphasized, other judges will be Steven Sassoon, a structural engineer who has judged the basic solidity of sand castles in every contest; Dr. Harris Taylor, Superintendent of the Carmel Unified School District who will, it is hoped, not be too impressed with educational values although giving this aspect of sand castle building proper respect; and Clarence Bates, a Carmel sculptor who will uphold artistic principles of sand creativity.

"Rules will be simple because we don't like them," Don Brown, also an AIA member, states. They are: (1) Everyone must build castles inside the flagged area which will center in Cooke's Cove at the foot of Thirteenth Avenue. (2) Loose dogs will not be allowed; (3) No holes deep enough so that anyone might crawl in and, perhaps, be smothered should sides collapse, can be constructed.

This year the sand marshals, Gene Takigawa, David Smith, Eddie Fischer and Jim Brady will come around to register all entries at 1 p.m. Judging will begin at 2 p.m. with prizes expected to be awarded at 3:30 p.m. These will be suitably decorated placards as in previous years.

A high tide starts receding at 9:32 a.m. on Sunday leaving the sand in prime condition for construction.

Who will win that Golden Shovel gilded by Glenn Kearns? Will it be a drip, historic, sculptured, spectacular or just plain confused creation? All will be considered by the judges—and lots of others, too.

EDINN CHAIRMAN

Directors of Project EDINN elected William Shanner chairman of the board at their regular monthly meeting on September 15. Dr. Shanner is an industrial research consultant who lives in Carmel.

First Lady Lauds Conservation Of County Coastline

by Marjory Lloyd

"What a wonderful part of the world to live in. It's not hard for the traveler to see why the beauties of this peninsula have inspired poets and writers and thinkers through the years," Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson said yesterday after she arrived here to dedicate the 72 miles of the Cabrillo Highway from Carmel River to the San Luis Obispo County line as the first unit in California's scenic highway system.

She paid special tribute to State Senator Fred S. Farr of Carmel as "the pioneer—the expert—when the President gathered together a task force on highway beauty." What has been done in California, she stressed, "is making a national impact. The people of California can well be proud to have produced such far-sighted conservationists."

Senator Farr was Mrs. Johnson's official escort on her visit. In her party, too, were Governor Edmund G. Brown and Mrs. Brown, also Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall and Mrs. Udall. Carmel's Mayor Stephen Grant was one of the dignitaries who welcomed the nation's First Lady when she arrived at Colton Hall in Monterey, where the constitution of this state was framed and signed.

"What a blessed place to be a crossroads of the world," Mrs. Johnson stated when she saw delegations, including a group of Vietnamese, from the Defense Language Institute clad in the colorful costumes of the countries whose languages they teach to United States servicemen. She also took note of a group of small children from Pacific Grove clad in butterfly costumes.

Hundreds of other children crowded Colton Hall lawn to give a rousing welcome to the nation's First Lady and music was played by the uniformed Monterey and Seaside high school bands. Many young people carried banners and placards, one of which read "Trees are forever, keep 'em." A group of girls from Santa Catalina School ingeniously attached their welcoming banner to balloons filled with helium gas so that it floated above the heads of the crowd of several thousand. Other children held big, bright, crepe paper flowers and every so often a balloon of bright hue escaped from a young hand and floated, glimmering in sunshine, toward the blue cloudless sky.

Ladies wearing the billowing gowns and lace mantillas of Monterey's Spanish heritage stood on the steps of Colton Hall as Mayor Minnie Coyle presented a golden key to the City of Monterey to Mrs. Johnson.

After the official welcome, Lady Bird planted a tiny chestnut tree from the Thomas Jefferson Mounds at the White House in front of Colton Hall with Senator Farr helping her wield a golden shovel.

"Let it express my gratitude for what has been done by you," she said in reference to the debt owed the Monterey Peninsula for "conservation—beautification—call it what you will. It is a frame of reference, a way of life. You have lived it and everyone who comes here is refreshed by what has been done."

Exceptionally Fine Performance Of Good Play At Circle Theatre

It is most gratifying to see a play, written by a master craftsman, performed by an amateur cast of exceptional ability. This is the experience that awaits all persons who attend "The Best Man," written by Gore Vidal, as presented at the Circle Theatre by the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula. Added interest is provided by the fact that the plot is timely.

The action of the play revolves around two disparate men both of whom are candidates of the same party for the presidency of the United States. The stage is set as a room in the hotel suite of either candidate during the national convention. In this room are deftly introduced all the influences and pressures that are brought to bear on these men of dissimilar natures, one idealistic and witty, the other ruthless and aggressive. The final resolution of their conflict is unexpected.

John Hicks as Senator William Russell gives an outstanding performance as the man who does not wish to stoop to "dirty politics" even though the reward is the greatest political plum in the land. His protagonist, Senator Joseph Cantwell, who will stop at nothing to gain his ends, is admirably portrayed by Norman C. McPhee, who also is director of "The Best Man."

Regina Hicks, as Mrs. Russell (offstage she is his wife, too), and Elizabeth Klein, as Mrs. Cantwell, both excellently interpret the very different types of spouses the two men have selected. Francis Hill, cast as Ex-President Arthur Hockstader, gives a skilled performance of a man experienced in the political arena and an astute judge of character.

Dick Jensen, as Senator Russell's campaign manager, also Jim Kinney as Don Blades, who has the same relationship with Senator Cantwell, capably carry out their roles in the exposition of the two candidates' characters.

Interjected into the action about the two aspirants to the presidency are laugh provoking Betty Fowlston as Mrs. Gamadge, a national committeewoman, and Senator Carlin, a booted and Stetsoned swerver between whomever is to be "the best man."

Marshall Hambro plays with telling impact the difficult part of Sheldon Marcus, who provides information to destroy Senator Cantwell.

Peter Hanson, Richard Gardner, Mona Fletcher and Robert Hicks, as reporters, give authentic atmosphere to the action. This atmosphere is further enhanced by television and off-stage sound. The only member of the cast who fell below the quality of the other actors was Richard Gardner when he doubled in the role of Dr. Artinian, a psychiatrist. Ann Brown, unobtrusively plays the part of assistant to a campaign manager.

The production staff which aided in the smoothness of "The Best Man" staging were Carol McPhee, set supervision; Wendy Thaler and Ann Brown, stage managers; Charles Richmond and Ann Hill, sound and lighting; Marguerite VanHorn and Bob Hicks, properties; Elizabeth Klein, John Hicks, Fran Hill, Bill Withers, Dick Bird, Regina Hicks, Wendy Thaler, Joan Swartz, Mona Fletcher and Rich Gardner, production assistants.

"The Best Man" will continue to run at the Circle for the next six weekends. Considering the excellence of this production it was a shame that, in a community which prides itself on its little theatre, so few people were in last Sunday night's audience. This is a play that grips, then moves from climax to climax with tenseness relieved by witticisms which evoke hearty laughter. It is, indeed, a good play exceptionally well performed. M.L.

'La Strada' Opens MPC Film Series On September 30

"La Strada," Federico Fellini's poetic film about a simple-minded waif, a brutish strong-man and a philosophical fool, will open the fall film series at Monterey Peninsula College on September 30.

Season tickets covering the six films in the series are available now at $3 for adults and $2 for students. OPERA AUDITIONS ON MONDAY NIGHTS

Auditions of singers for the chorus, also leading roles, in two operas to be performed next year are being conducted by the Nancy Ness Bowman Opera Workshop of the Monterey Peninsula every Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the music room at Carmel High School. Further information may be had by phoning Mrs. Bowman (624-1072).

Film-Lecture On New Red China Tomorrow Night

Film-Lecturer Bathie Stuart, who will narrate her color film "The New Red China," first of this year's Explorarama Carmel series, at Sunset Center auditorium tomorrow evening, is not a newcomer to Carmel. On a brief visit here last week, she recalled being presented in Carmel before by Miss Dene Denney and Miss Hazel Watrous, founders of the Bach Festival. On this occasion, she lectured about her native country, New Zealand.

Miss Stuart visited Red China twice on a New Zealand passport in the summer of 1965. In all she travelled 8,000 miles in order to produce her hour and a half documentary film and visited Peking, Soochow, Hangchow, Canton and Shanghai. She believes her film and her accompanying story of China today will be of particular interest to Carmel's "Old China Hands."

The development of Red China in the past 16 years is amazing, she declared last week, especially the use of machinery which was not associated with Old China. She also spoke about the great emphasis on athletics for the people and their present-day puritanical attitudes.

In her journey from Canton to Peking by train and air, she observed that the country, except for the mountain areas, is like a huge garden. There are schools, hospitals, clinics and entertainment... and the status symbol is a bicycle. Tourists are driven about in automobiles, some of them vintage cars which the Chinese keep in running order.

"A trip to Red China is like visiting a different world," she stressed.

The film will be presented by the Explorers Club of San Francisco at 8:15 p.m. as a community service. All proceeds from the presentation, and successive Explorarama Carmel films, are used for the club's fund to provide science awards to young students throughout the United States. Tickets ($1.75) may be obtained at Central Box Office or at the auditorium tomorrow night. Season tickets ($7) are also available.

"Cavalleria Rusticana," under the direction of Mrs. Bowman, was highly acclaimed when presented at White Oaks Theatre last May. Cavalleria will be repeated next season in addition to the opera yet unchosen.

ONE-ACT O'NEILL PLAY AT MPC

"Hughie," a long one-act play by Eugene O'Neill, will be staged at Monterey Peninsula College September 28 through October 1.

The all-student production of one of three plays published after the author's death will be directed by David Allan.

There are only two cast members one of whom is Rod Sibley of Carmel.

Curtain time each evening in the MPC Little Theater on campus is 8:30. Tickets, priced at $1 for adults, 50 cents for students, will be sold at the theater door.

Mr. Salzmann

Private services for Ernesto Salzmann, who died Monday evening at his Carmel home after a brief illness, were held this morning at the Mission Mortuary, followed by inurnment at the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

A resident of Carmel for the past two years, Mr. Salzmann was born in Spain on June 5, 1888. He taught in the San Francisco schools for almost 30 years and was a member of the National Retired Teachers Association, also belonged to the World Affairs Council of the Monterey Peninsula.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Katharine Salzmann of Carmel; a son, Ernest, of Santa Cruz; and two daughters, Frieda Salzmann of Carmel and Mrs. Eda Drake of Oakland.

Friends wishing to make contributions in memory of Mr. Salzmann may do so to the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, Box 191, Monterey.

Some places put up signs at the city limits reading "5,278 Friendly People And One Old Grouch." Here at The Studio we're still looking for that Old Grouch. He (or she) is certainly not among the wonderful casts that have graced our shows. Nor among our friendly neighbors on Dolores Street or elsewhere in Carmel. Nor yet among the hundreds of gracious patrons of our buffet luncheon (some of whom we see every day but Monday when we're closed) or the thousands who over the months attend our dinner-theatre or show only. So if there is one on the Monterey Peninsula, we're happy without knowing. Robert Louis Stevenson Described Carmel Mission Fiesta Of 1879

On October 9, the annual Fiesta de San Carlos de Borromeo will be held in the courtyard of historic Carmel Mission. The spirit of the affair promises to be as festive as it was in 1879, however the attire of the natives and the menu will have changed considerably.

Some may notice that dancing teen-agers in Crespi Hall have deviated somewhat from Spanish influenced Indian dances. However, adults have promised to retain many of the original festivities—games, entertainment, etc. which date back to the earliest days of the Mission era.

Robert Louis Stevenson, described the traditions of the fiesta in an article entitled "The Old Pacific Capital" which appeared in the London periodical, Fraser's Magazine, in 1880.

In the fall of 1879, Robert Louis Stevenson came to Monterey, where he lived in one of the two adobe and wooden houses, now known as Stevenson House, on Houston Street. He stayed only three months, but he became deeply attached to the Peninsula. The next year the English periodical published his following description of Carmel Mission and its annual fiesta.

"The Mission church is roofless and ruinous; sea breezes and sea fogs, and the alternation of rain and sunshine, daily widening the breaches and casting the crokets from the wall. As an antiquity in this new land, a quaint specimen of missionary architecture, and a memorial of good deeds, it had a triple claim to preservation from all thinking people; but neglect and abuse have been its portion. There is no sign of American interference, save where a headboard has been torn from a grave to be a mark for pistol bullets.

"So it is with the Indians for whom it was erected. Their lands, I was told, are being yearly encroached upon by the neighboring American proprietor, and with that exception no man troubles his head for the Indians of Carmel.

"Only one day in the year, the day before our Guy Fawkes, the padre drives over the hill from Monterey; the little sacristy, which is the only covered portion of the church, is filled with seats and decorated for the service; the Indians troop together, their bright dresses contrasting with their dark and melancholy faces; and there among a crowd of somewhat unsympathetic holiday makers, you may hear God served with perhaps more touching circumstances than in any other temple under heaven.

"An Indian, stone blind and about eighty years of age, conducts the singing; other Indians compose the choir; yet they have the Gregorian music at their finger ends, and pronounce the Latin so correctly that I could follow the meaning as they sang. The pronunciation was odd and nasal, the singing hurried and staccato. 'In Saecula saeculo ho-horum,' they went, with a vigorous aspirate to every additional syllable.

"I have never seen faces more vividly lit up with joy than the faces of these Indian singers. It was to them not only the worship of God, nor an act of which they recalled and commemorated better days, but was besides an exercise of culture, where all they knew of art and letters was united and expressed. And it made a man's heart sorry for the good fathers of

Carmel's Golden Anniversary To Be Ten-Day Event

On Halloween, half a century ago, Carmel was incorporated as a city. Though this area was known, and the Carmel River named, even before Jamestown and Plymouth were settled, it has been in the years since the turn of the present century that Carmel has achieved its national and international renown as a center of the creative and performing arts, also become famed for preserving the beauty of its pine forest setting above a gleaming white sand beach upon which no commercial development is permitted.

Next month, in a ten-day series of special events, Carmel will remember, recount and honor its past, present its today to the world and hopefully open a window to its future.

Concerts, lectures, round tables, art shows, dinner-and-dancing outdoors, even softball games of Carmel's own special kind, are yore, who had taught them to dig and to reap, to read and to sing, who had given them European Mass-books which they still preserve and study in their cottages, and who had now passed away from all authority and influence in that land—to be succeeded by greedy land thieves and sacrilegious pistol shots."

The noted historian of the Mission, Harry Downie, has a letter in his possession which was written by the last of the Indian Captains, Alfonso Rameriz at the age of 80. He describes the preparations for the Fiesta de San Carlos de Borromeo during the year of 1875.

"I started to help the church since I was 18 years (old), until now 80 (years old). We cut young Pines to decorate and to give a festive air to the ruined Church. We had to sleep at the Church, as there were no doors or roof, to be sure that the preparations were not disturbed during the night."

This information was written to Father Murphy in 1932.

planned for the period of October 21-31 to celebrate the city's golden anniversary.

Performances of the Rodgers and Hammerstein's musical, "Pipe Dream" based on John Steinbeck's novel, "Sweet Thursday," will be given in Sunset Center under the direction of Cole Weston. Although Steinbeck never lived in Carmel, the main character of this production, "Doc," at one time maintained his home here.

Carmel authors, artists, musicians and dramatists will be honored. The ten-day celebration will be guided by Councilman Gunnar Norberg, the city council decided last week.

NPGS PROFESSORS LECTURE ABROAD

Professor Paul H. Ecker of Carmel Valley, Burt R. Pierce and Don Rice, representing the Navy Management Systems Center at the Naval Postgraduate School, left last week for Germany and France to present a three-day course in defense management systems. Attending the course are officials of the German defense ministry in Bonn, and NATO defense officials in Paris. The course is similar to one given here recently for generals and admirals of the U. S. Armed Forces.

Professor Ecker and his colleagues will return October 4 after meeting with British defense officials in London.

CHARLES F. ZIERT

Charles F. Ziert has been named assistant manager of Crocker-Citizens National Bank's Pebble Beach office, Robert McKeever, Jr., vice president and manager, announces.

Ziert joined the bank in 1963 as an administrative trainee and upon completion of that training a year later was named an assistant manager at the bank's Salinas office, where he served until his present assignment to Pebble Beach.

CLUB DIRECTOR

U. S. Army Photo

Director of Fort Ord's Service Club Two, Miss Lalorie Chung, was assigned here in 1958 after serving as recreation director at the U. S. Engineer School in Germany. Miss Chung, a 1953 graduate of San Jose College, where she majored in education and art, is a resident of Carmel.

Attended Medical Seminar

Dr. L. Bruce Meyer of Carmel was among more than 500 doctors attending the annual Samuel Merritt Hospital Medical Seminar at the Kaiser Center Auditorium in Oakland last week. A reception at the hospital and a tour of its new school of nursing were features of one of the evening programs.

Who Said It?

A ninth grade teacher found the following at the bottom of a test paper. "The views expressed on this test are not necessarily those of the textbook." The Pine Cone nominates this unknown student as most likely to succeed.

Assigned To Germany

Private Branimir B. Roessler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno E. Roessler of Carmel Knolls, has been assigned to the Army 3d Infantry Division near Kitzingen, Germany. The young service man, a graduate of Monterey Peninsula College, completed his basic training, leadership school and advanced training at Fort Ord.

Mr. and Mrs. Roessler, both natives of Europe, have relatives and many friends in Germany and France whom their son hopes to visit when leaves permit. A pleasure to which they all look forward is the Roesslers' trip to Germany, planned for next Spring.

Pursuing Higher Education

Two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Pollock of Carmel Valley are among many young people continuing their studies toward degrees in different institutions. Kathleen, who graduated from Carmel High School in 1965 and subsequently was enrolled at Sacramento State College and MPC, has entered the O'Connor Hospital School of Nursing in San Jose. Established in 1898 by the Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, the school offers a total program of academic classes there and at the University of Santa Clara.

Their daughter Rose Marie, Mrs. Randy Garoutte, is resuming her studies at Cal Poly after a leave of absence during which the Garouttes' first child, Timothy Randolph, was born. Her husband will graduate next June in the field of nuclear physics at Cal Poly. Rose Marie is a graduate of the 1964 CHS class.

The Pollocks' third daughter, Patricia, her husband, Dr. Ferris G. Burleson, and their two children, Lori Ann and Debbie, are a family team at their home, Fancy Foot Farm, where Arabian horses are their pride and joy. Dr. Burleson and the girls are providing stiff competition in local shows and have a number of ribbons from the last, also other, Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club events.

In Nurses' Training

Ann Marie Tucker, who graduated in June from Carmel High School, has enrolled at O'Connor Hospital School of Nursing in San Jose. In addition to the academic program, Ann's training will include clinical and research experience in psychiatric nursing, specialized nursing problems, pediatrics and public health nursing, at affiliated institutions.

Ann's parents, Colonel and Mrs. Francis D. Tucker, recently moved to Kansas from their former Carmel residence.

Back From Aloha Land

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hanke have returned from a trip to Honolulu, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lester Marks at the Marks' home on the old Pali road. During their three-week holiday, the Hanks also enjoyed seeing many other friends in Honolulu. Their flight departure to the Islands was rather erratically delayed, according to Mrs. Hanke, but the voyage home aboard the Lurline was pure delight.

A Holiday Baby

Labor Day was extra special this year for Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, whose new daughter, Sheryl Lee, was born at Community Hospital on the September 5 holiday. Sheryl is the sister of Paul, who attends Carmelo School, Lee, a student at Santa Catalina, Karen, a new kindergartener at Carmelo, and Ann. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Elaine Jackson and Mrs. George Hohenschild, both of Alameda.

At Bradford Junior College

Deborah O. Smith, a graduate of Santa Catalina School for Girls, has left for Bradford, Massachusetts, where she will enter Bradford Junior College, now in its 164th year. Deborah is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith of Carmel.

Texas Visitors Depart

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. "Don" Moffatt are leaving tomorrow for their home in Lampasas, Texas, after "a most delightful visit" in Carmel with Mr. Moffatt's sister, Mrs. Egbert Schenck. The Moffatts, who have been coming to Carmel for many years, offered only one good-humored complaint about their stay here—they found it a bit difficult to keep up with all the activities their energetic hosts had planned for them.

CONNIE IS A FINALIST

Connie Hood of Carmel, 14 years old and a sophomore at Carmel High School, has been chosen as one of the finalists in the Miss Teen Age Monterey Bay competition, sponsored by radio station KDON. Connie will join 14 other semifinalists on the evening of October 22, when some young lady will receive recognition as Miss Teen Age Monterey Bay and prepare to leave for Dallas, Texas, and the Miss Teen Age America Pageant.

Catholic Daughters' Breakfast

In resuming activities after the summer recess, Court Carmel Mission 1496, Catholic Daughters of America, will serve breakfast in the school cafeteria at the Mission on Sunday from 8 a.m. to 12:45 p.m. Proceeds will be used to replenish the scholarship fund.

Newly elected Grand Regent, Mrs. John Frey, has appointed Mrs. James McGrury and Mrs. Arthur Bowen co-chairmen for the event, which is open to the public.

BPWC Plans Excursion

The Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club is planning an excursion to attend the Cinerama production of "The Sound of Music" at the Century 22 Theatre, San Jose on October 9. The event will provide an opportunity to see the show on the original 70 MM system with seven-track stereo.

Pianist Gilbert Boyer and his wife, artist Louise Cardeiro Boyer, returned to Valle de Bravo, Mexico, for a month this summer to see old friends, pursue their respective arts and revisit the Casa de Alfabetizacion. The latter is the literacy project founded by Dr. Frank Laubach to which the Boyers devoted several years and an enormous amount of energy and talent.

Miss America Wasn't Always

If you'd like to see how Jane Ann Jayroe, the new Miss America, looked when she was ten years old, Mrs. Charles S. Karnow has a picture of her—in fact, she has pictures of her cousin's daughter throughout the years. According to those who have seen the young lady's photograph, it is difficult to identify Jane with the lovely winner of this year's title.

As does Miss America, Mrs. Karnow hails from Sentinel, Washita County, Oklahoma, where numerous generations of the family live or have lived.

UC Davis Lists New Students

The University of California, Davis, has submitted a list of students from this area enrolling for the first time, some of whom have previously been mentioned in the Pine Cone. They are, with their colleges or majors, letters and science, Carol Imwalle, Hazel Jacoby, Susan Kramer and Nancy Thompson; botany, Catherine (James) McWilliams, sophomore; preveterinary medicine, Orley Mae White.

Judith Anderson Visiting

Judith Anderson, indelibly associated with the poetry of Robinson Jeffers through her highly acclaimed interpretation in its reading and for her roles in "Medea" and "Tower Beyond Tragedy," is arriving for a visit with the Donnan Jefferses at Tor House. Long a personal friend of the family, Miss Anderson has been a guest at Tor House many times throughout the years.

The famed actress is to be associated with the National Educational Television program centering around the poet and his work which is now being produced here under the auspices of the Poetry Center of San Francisco State College.

Mrs. Anderson Entertained

Mrs. Glenn Anderson, wife of California's Lieutenant Governor, a surprise guest during Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's visit, was entertained at a tea Tuesday at the Carmel Meadows home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Criley.

David Hilbert New Carmelite

The birth of David Alan Hilbert, on September 8, was cause for rejoicing in three local families — first, of course, his parents, Clayton and Jan Hilbert. Their young son, who weighed seven pounds, 11 ounces, when he arrived at Community Hospital, is the first grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ramoni, also Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hilbert, all of Carmel.

David is the great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Mendonca of Big Sur, Mrs. James Ramoni of Hollister, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Benson of San Benancio Canyon. Among other relatives in this area are an uncle, Harrison Hilbert, and a great-aunt, Mrs. Harold Studevant.

Though Clayton is soon leaving to serve two years in the U. S. Naval Reserve, it's a cinch all his son's dotting grandparents will see that he receives plenty of attention.

Raymond Murdocks Here

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Murdock are here on one of their frequent visits from Cleveland, Ohio, as the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Brownell.

Tomorrow evening, the Murdocks will entertain a large group of local friends at a cocktail party and buffet supper in the Windjammer Room of the Mark Thomas Inn.

'My Three Sons'

Mr. and Mrs. John Guzik became third-time parents on September 2, when Keith Walter was born at Community Hospital. He weighed in at a hefty nine pounds, two ounces and is the first namesake of his grandfather, Walter Stuefloten, and the third grandchild the Stueflotens look forward to seeing for the first time when they return from Kona Plantation, Hawaii, for a visit in November.

Keith's brothers are John Matthew, known as Matt, who has just entered kindergarten at Carmelo School, and Todd. His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Guzik II of Lawrence, Pennsylvania.

Jon Stuefloten and his wife, now residents of Framingham, Massachusetts, hope to be here with baby Heidi while the Walter Stueflotens are in Carmel. Kari, new daughter of Jerry and Donna Stuefloten of Santa Clara, will meet her grandparents for the first time then. And to make the reunion complete, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crampton (Patty Stuefloten) of Belmont, with their three sons and daughter, hope to join the gathering.

Enrolled At Roswell

John W. Tannehill has transferred from Robert Louis Stevenson School to New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell for his junior year. The young cadet is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Tannehill of Pebble Beach.

Mrs. Harber At Conference

Mrs. Vive E. Harber, area manager for World Book Encyclopedia, was a guest of the company at its annual conference in Chicago two weeks ago. Mrs. Harber was among some 5,000 sales managers from the U. S., Canada and abroad who attended the firm's 50th anniversary celebration.

The 2nd Annual Watercolor Competitive is currently featured at the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History. The show, sponsored by the Pacific Grove Kiwanis Club, will remain on view until October 9.

Ninety-seven artists entered this competitive, submitting 171 paintings. The juror, N. Eric Oback, associate professor of art at San Jose State College, selected 61 paintings for exhibition. His awards were: First—Gerald Wasserman for "At the Cafe;" Second—Louise Ryan James for "Quasar Calendar;" Third—Dick Crispo for "Still Life with Man." Honorable mention was given to work by Alex Gonzales, Virginia Conroy, Ruth Jordan Allan and Frederick Pomeroy.

Watercolor is recognized as the most difficult of the painting media, and is appreciated and respected most by artists themselves. While there are many methods and styles, this particular watercolor show was designed to challenge the artist with an "any aqueous medium" limitation along with framing and size specifications. As would be expected, these limitations are hardly stumbling blocks to competent artists. They have responded with an exciting array of creative and imaginative works which run the gamut of possibilities from the transparent through the opaque and into water-based mixed media and acrylic.

This exhibition represents the best efforts of the artists of Monterey County. The show may be viewed daily except Monday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. The museum is located at the corner of Forest and Central Avenues in Pacific Grove. Admission is free.

Phillip B. Smith of Carmel has been awarded two honorable mentions in nature photo slide and pictorial color slide competition at the Los Angeles County Fair.

He received awards for "Mushroom Cluster No. 14" in the nature section and "Mystery Window No. 2" in the pictorial section. His "Ancient Rock Strata No. 12" and "Pelicans at Dusk" also were accepted for exhibition.

Winning entries are displayed in the Fine Arts Building until October 2.

Application blanks are now available at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art for the third annual Competitive Exhibition, to be held from October 6 through 31, entitled "Monterey County Painting—1966."

Sponsored by the museum association, the competition will be held at its gallery, Lincoln Street south of Ocean in Carmel, and will be open to all residents of Monterey County.

The prizes of $300 each will be awarded by the director of the San Francisco Art Institute, Fred Martin. One of the three winners will also be chosen to have a one-man show at the Gallery in June, 1967.

An invitational preview will be held for those artists whose work has been selected to hang in the Competitive on October 5. Sponsors and other contributors will be hosts to the artists.

Those wishing to enter the competition should telephone 624-2918 for information.

Keith Lindberg and Edward Norton Ward will be guest artists at the Dooley Gallery until October 15.

Lindberg, who has been painting in the Carmel area for five years, is a former Kansan and a product of the Chicago Art Institute. He has exhibited in the Mid-America Show in Kansas City, the Lee Gallery in Carmel, the Entrepreneur in Fresno, and the White Oaks

GALA CHAMPAGNE PREVIEW

October 5 is the date set for the champagne preview at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Arts Association gallery before the opening of the museum's third annual competitive show — Monterey County Painting, 1966.

Monterey Peninsula Museum, formerly the American Federation of Arts, will again offer three $300 prizes made possible by the sponsors of this year's competitive show.

Sponsorships are available at museum headquarters for $25 which will include two invitations to the champagne preview.

Paintings selected by Fred Martin of the San Francisco Art Institute will be on display at the museum gallery throughout the month of October.

Artists whose work will be hanging in the show will be listed in a catalogue along with a list of contributing sponsors.

"Car for a Week" will be donated by Hertz-Rent-a-Car as a door prize at the champagne preview.

Gallery in Carmel Valley. A colorist with a distinctive palette reminiscent of Cezanne and Derain, Lindberg dwells on moody reflections of people particularly. His landscapes are poetic summarizations of trees and valleys which could be anywhere.

Edward Norton Ward, a native Californian, has also painted in the Monterey Bay area for several years. His early education was received in Southern California. Later he served as first lieutenant in the United States Air Force during the Korean war. Mr. Ward is a member of Society of Western Artists and has exhibited in many galleries in northern and southern California. He travels extensively searching for subjects and his paintings capture the rural California scene with warmth and sensitivity. Both he and Mrs. Lindberg are members of the Carmel Art Association.

Recent paintings by Helen B. Dooley will also be shown in the gallery during this month, and a new group of enamels by Ree Mantz of San Francisco will add an interesting touch of variety to this exhibition.

The gallery is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and on Sundays from 2 to 4 p.m.

Helen B. Dooley is a professor of art education at University of the Pacific in Stockton. She is now on leave of absence for painting and has established her own art gallery in Carmel. She has exhibited nationally and has won many awards.

Watercolors by Carmel artist Sam Colburn are included in the Fall art show at the Storm Center gallery in Forest Knolls, Marin County, this month.

PINPOINT PROFILES

Dr. Pauline Sperry

Every once in awhile, we have the great good fortune to meet someone who embraces qualities that defy all description—a person who has intelligence, beauty, wit, foresight, courage, love, friendliness and generosity.

Dr. Pauline Sperry, professor emerita of mathematics, University of California, Berkeley, now living quietly at Forest Hill Manor, is that person.

Listen to her Formula for Happiness at Eighty—"and one of the causes for which I burn is to share my knowledge of how life at any age need never be stale if we are bold enough to ask the right questions and brave enough to face the answers about that untouchable subject, money. I began to see that, for most of the older people I know, accumulated funds weigh on their spirits rather than release them. Their illusions cannot help them from becoming more strained, more condemnatory of younger people today, more critical of a world that they have left behind in any active, useful participation. No wonder that so many older people feel less and less needed!

"But suppose we all faced the fact that with a change in attitude towards ourselves and towards money we could instantly start a new type of life!"

We end Dr. Sperry's quote here but allow me to continue her theory and tell you that she is responsible for helping many, many people to a fuller life.

Her philosophy, simply, is one that Walt Whitman recommended. He said "When I give, I give myself." In other words the more you give the more you receive. This law works for anyone.

Dr. Sperry's first project that brought her a great measure of joy was when she heard about members of a hungry family in Port-au-Prince, Haiti. In fact, they had no roof over their heads and were actually starving.

With a few people, who share Dr. Sperry's point of view, a one-room school and meeting house for very young children and their parents in impoverished, struggling Haiti has been set up and is supported with a generous check each month.

Another time, a letter was brought to Dr. Sperry's attention and revealed a graduation dress was needed for a poor Negro girl in Georgia—again—an electric sewing machine for a seamstress whose doctor had said she could no longer use an old fashioned treadle machine. In another instance aid was needed for a young teacher - to - be, an award-winning Shakespearean scholar who had won transportation but had no extra money to cover the usual daily expenses while traveling. Dr. Sperry says of the latter, "I, who will never go to England again at my age, have never had a more enjoyable time there than through his letters."

Fervently, she continues, "Let us revive that kindly custom of coming to the rescue of our neighbors, for nowadays, anyone we hear about is our neighbor, all we need to do is listen with a keen ear."

Dr. Sperry graduated from Smith College in 1906 and taught there for a number of years, later transferring to University of Chicago and finally to University of California, Berkeley. She has been an extremely vital woman, always ready to stand by "a cause".

As a true pioneer, she has worked on councils for the American Friends Committee on legislation, for the American Civil Liberties Union, for the League of Women Voters—at Smith, the University of Chicago and University of California. She has been a member of the Monterey Peninsula Friends Meeting for a long time.

One of her dear friends told me that it was after Dr. Sperry reached three-score years and ten that she took up the study of writing poetry. She approached the subject in her own deliberate way—analyzing, paraphrasing and so on until she had mastered poetic technique. The result was most rewarding—two of her poems were accepted for publication.

Now in her less busy years Dr. Sperry is still reaching out—doing what she feels ought to be done.

To continue her Formula for Happiness at Eighty she says, "My formula for happiness makes everything feel personal. It makes anyone feel needed more and more. It offsets all desperation. It ends isolation. It keeps anything from seeming commonplace. It builds anew the oneness of mankind. I believe in it so much that I am going to follow it right on to a joyous finale, fulfilled, and ready for whatever is next!"

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Reality" is the subject of this week's Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

The ways in which spiritual reality is revealed will be studied in several Bible passages, including these verses from Exodus and Galatians "Behold, I send an Angel before thee, to keep thee in the way, and to bring thee into the place which I have prepared . . . We through the Spirit wait for the hope of righteousness by faith."

A corresponding passage from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, gives this definition of angels: "God's thoughts passing to man; spiritual intuitions, pure and perfect; the inspiration of goodness, purity, and immortality, counteracting all evil, sensuality, and mortality."

There is much to support the belief that there is a struggle among ideas, and that those tend to prevail which correspond with the changing needs of humanity.

—W. R. Inge

REPORTS FROM R.L.S

by Chandler Maloy

Founded in 1952 with 18 students, the Robert Louis Stevenson School in Pebble Beach starts its 15th year with 266 resident and day students in 8th through 12th grades. This is the greatest number of students the private prep school has ever enrolled.

Founder and president Robert U. Ricklefs, when welcoming the student body last week, told of the first class he addressed when there were only eight high school students compared to some 234 today. The present student group is made up of boys from all over the world (some 15 countries are represented) and from many states in America. Besides California, there is a large group from Texas, Oregon and South America. In describing the scope of the student body, Mr. Ricklefs said the campus might be described as from "England to Hong Kong and from Canada to Chile."

NEW FACILITIES

As with every summer in recent years, several new facilities were constructed, including a handsome senior dorm, a new faculty resident apartment, a complex of eight "competitive" tennis courts, plus extensive refurbishing of existing buildings.

Directing the academic program is Frank Keith, starting his fifth year, with a former headmaster, Edward Brown, as dean of men. "Veteran" Dick Zury, starting his eighth year, will be director of athletics. The popular Reverend C. E. "Coach" Wilson will be the school spiritual advisor for the ninth year.

FACULTY

There is a faculty of 42 with emphasis on English, math, science and foreign language instruction. (Supplementary courses are offered in music, art, speech and typing). Seven faculty members have degrees from institutions outside the United States (notably in the languages) and eight are graduates of either the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis or the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

Students and faculty alike are looking forward to their "biggest year yet" as they celebrate the 15th year of progress in education.

SUMMER VISITORS

Robert Louis Stevenson School, known locally as "R.L.S.," is a busy place, even when school is not in session.

During the summer, some 500 visitors stopped by the campus to see the famous Erdman Memorial Chapel (voted the finest building in America in 1964 by the American Institute of Architects) and to tour the resident school, known for its academic traditions. Some 40 large and small buildings make up the total complex spread over two sides of Forest Lake Road about one mile from Del Monte Lodge. The new Spyglass Hill Golf Course is just behind the school, with the 18th tee being at the corner of the school's gym.

In addition to several weddings held in the chapel, cricket matches on the playing field (The Del Monte Cricket Club) and community activities like the rehearsals of the MRA "Sing-out '66" group, there were guided tours for special groups.

One of the most interesting, was the visit of the School Committee of the Union of International Architects (17 countries were represented) while they were on tour in the United States. "R.L.S." was selected as the only prep school on the tour (which included Stanford among colleges visited).

TOURS

Tours by private parties may be arranged through the school office, but individuals are always welcome to stop by and visit. A staff member is always on duty and available to show the campus.

Morse Regatta Is Scratched, Sailboat Lost in Heavy Seas

Stillwater Yacht Club's S.F.B. Morse Regatta was cancelled last weekend after the first race on Saturday which found the Mercury fleet stranded off Point Lobos without a whisper of wind. Heavy surge and erratic breezes on Sunday were the deciding factors for scratching the scheduled three-race competition which winds up the sailing season at the cove. If conditions are favorable, the regatta will be held this Saturday and Sunday.

The heavy seas were responsible, apparently, for the loss of Dick Clark's Mercury, which slipped its mooring and went aground on the rocks early Sunday morning. The young skipper, a June Carmel High graduate now at Menlo Junior College, devoted a year and a half of hard work building and fitting out his boat and had sailed it in competition for the first time the previous day. No one was aboard when the 16-foot sailboat hit the rocks.

Red Cross Requests Gift Items For Men in Viet Nam

Christmas in September? It is not the wild idea it might seem at first glance, for a request has been received by the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross to supply 300 bags of Christmas gifts to our men in Viet Nam. According to Carl Bosholt, chapter chairman, the board of directors approved the project at its September meeting and committees are already at work.

Mrs. William Shanner, chairman of volunteers, is issuing a call for gifts of certain definitely specified items to help fill the bright red and green nylon bags. These include "good as new" paperback books, plastic soap dishes, washcloths, and nail clippers. Also small games and puzzles which will fit into 12-inch bags. Organized sewing groups that are interested in helping to make the bags are asked to call Red Cross headquarters (624-6455 or 624-6921).

The deadline for getting the finished Christmas bags to the area office in San Francisco is October 15. They will have to be completed and sent from the Carmel chapter by the first week in October.

PARTY PLANS . . .

By Phyllis Jervey

FIRST LADY'S FAVORED FARE

Yesterday there was a barbecue in honor of Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson at Hearst Castle following her visit here. Today Party Plans gives you Mrs. Johnson's own favorite recipes which first appeared in Phyllis Jervey's regular feature Menus of the Month for U. S. Lady, the U. S. Armed Forces Family Magazine.

If you want to have a food-praising party, do serve our First Lady's favored fare. We are giving a barbecue fiesta menu which Mrs. Johnson would choose from her many fine specialties. We also show what the President himself would select from his brand of Texas barbecue offered at the Johnson's hospitable Texas ranch.

Walter Jetton, the caterer to the LBJ Ranch, tells us in his LBJ Barbecue Book that "barbecue meals come in every size, shape and form, much of which does not amount to any more than cooking out of doors. However, to come up with a menu that will never do you wrong, the meal I would choose is the one that President and Mrs. Johnson both like. Here is the menu."

LBJ BARBECUE MENU

Texas Beef Barbecue
with Natural Gravy
Smoked Ranch Beans
Cooked Country Corn
Potato Salad
Texas Cole Slaw
Sliced Dill Pickle Spears
Spanish Sweet Onions
Modern Day Sourdough Biscuits
Fried Apple Pies
Six-Shooter Coffee

To prove that the President and his Lady Bird each know how to throw an out-of-this-world barbecue, here is another menu with Mrs. Johnson's very own recipes.

LADY BIRD'S BARBECUE FIESTA

Chile con Queso
Pedernales River Chile
Lima Beans with Cheese Sauce
Hot Buttered French Bread
Cakes Cookies Fruits
Coffee Soft Drinks

CHILE CON QUESO (Serves 50)

Four lbs. American cheese; 2 No. 1 size (10½ oz., each) cans Ro-Tel tomatoes and green chiles.

Grate cheese into top of double boiler add 2 cans slightly drained tomatoes (Ro-Tel brand already has the hot chile peppers and other seasoning in it). Reserve juice. Cook over boiling water until cheese melts and is very hot. Add remaining juice from the tomatoes until the dip reaches desired consistency for Fritos corn chip dunking. Cut down amounts given for smaller gatherings. The chile con queso will keep frozen and only needs melting in double boiler. Keep warm at serving over chafing dish.

PEDERNALES RIVER CHILI (Serves 20)

Four lbs. chili meat (round steak) with suet; 2 onions; 2 garlic cloves; 1 tsp. ground oregano; 1 tsp. cumin seed; 6 tsps. chili powder (more if a stronger flavor is wanted); 2 cans Ro-Tel tomatoes; salt to taste; 2 cups hot water. Put chili meat, cut into half-inch cubes, chopped onions and garlic in large heavy cast iron skillet with enough rendered fat from beef suet to sear meat on all sides until light color. Add rest of ingredients. Stir and bring to a boil, then lower heat and simmer about an hour or until meat is tender. Skim fat as it cooks out. This is known as chili "straight" and is a great favorite of the President's.

LIMA BEANS WITH CHEESE SAUCE (Serves 12)

Two pkgs. frozen baby lima beans; salt; butter; 2 tsps. flour; 1 cup milk; large can mushrooms; 1½ cups grated American cheese.

Cook limas in salted water according to directions on package. Drain well. Put average amount of butter in saucepan and melt. Add drained mushrooms and saute lightly. Add flour and milk gradually, stirring to make a thick white sauce. Add grated cheese and let melt, then add limas. Serve hot. Triple for 36 servings.

The following luncheon menu contains Mrs. Johnson's delicious recipes consisting of Noches Especiales, Popovers and Chocolate Souffle. The East Texas Chicken Salad is from the "LBJ Barbecue Cook Book."

LOVELY LADY'S LUNCHEON PARTY Noches Especiales East Texas Chicken Salad Popovers Hot or Iced Tea or Coffee Chocolate Souffle

NOCHES ESPECIALES (Serves 8)

The First Lady's recipe for noches especiales, literally "special nights," although they are just as tempting in the day time, makes a marvelous appetizer with drinks.

Cut 4 canned tortillas into quarters and deep fry in hot fat until brown and crisp on both sides. Drain well on brown paper. Place about 1 tsp. grated sharp cheese on each quarter and top with a small slice of canned jalapena pepper. Put on cookie sheet in 450 F. oven until cheese melts. Serve at once. For a large barbecue party, continuous batches would have to be made since these are not as good served cold or even lukewarm, therefore, they are more suitable for a smaller dinner or luncheon. If you prefer, they can accompany soups or salads as well as beverages.

EAST TEXAS CHICKEN SALAD (Serves 8 generously)

Two and a half cups diced cooked chicken; 2 cups diced celery; ½ cup sliced stuffed green olives; ¼ cup chicken broth; 1 cup mayonnaise; 1 tsp. salt; 2 tsps. lemon juice; pepper and paprika to taste.

Stir chicken broth into mayonnaise slowly; add this mixture to the celery, chicken and olives and toss lightly. Season and serve in lettuce cups or peeled avocado halves. Decorate with tomato wedges and watercress sprigs.

POPOVERS (Serves 8)

One cup sifted flour; 1 cup milk; 2 tsps. melted shortening; 2 beaten eggs; ¼ tsp. salt.

Mix and sift flour and salt. Combine eggs, milk and shortening. Gradually add to flour mixture. Beat until smooth. Fill greased sizzling hot popover or muffin tins ¾ full and bake in 450 F. oven for 20 minutes; then reduce oven to 350 F. and continue baking about 20 minutes. Do not open oven door during baking as popovers may fall. When they are removed from oven, make small slit inside each popover with sharp knife to permit steam to escape. Add butter and serve immediately.

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE (Serves 8)

Heat, but do not boil, 1 cup milk and 1 oz. chocolate cut in pieces. Stir over low flame until chocolate is melted. Melt 2 tsps. butter in separate saucepan. Stir in 1 tbsp. flour until blended and add to this the hot milk mixture. When sauce is smooth, stir in 1/3 cup sugar until dissolved. Beat 3 egg yolks until light, next, beat part of sauce into yolks, then add mixture to liquid in sauce pan. Stir the custard over very low flame so yolks will thicken slightly. Cool custard well, then add 1 tsp. vanilla extract. Whip 3 egg whites until stiff with 1/8 tsp. salt. Fold them lightly into chocolate mixture. Bake the souffle in a 7-inch baking dish, set in pan of hot water, in a 350 F. oven for about 30 minutes. Serve (Continued on Page B)

Some important words on a serious subject

I hope you never receive a malicious phone call, but if you do, here are some things you can do to discourage the caller:

Hang Up—if the caller doesn't answer when you say "hello."

Hang Up—at the first obscene word or improper personal question.

Hang Up—if the caller doesn't identify himself to your satisfaction. And remember, never give your telephone number to an unknown caller.

If malicious calls persist, call our Business Office. We have employees who are trained to assist and advise you and who can frequently help in identifying the origin of unwelcome and troublesome calls. MPVS Tombola
Oct. 12 Event

Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services annual Tombola has proved so popular in the past that the membership voted to split 1966 proceeds of the October 12 event at Monterey Fairgrounds into three portions to go to the Monterey County Symphony Association, the Visiting Nurse Association and the Family Services Agency.

Monterey County Symphony Association has just released to its members a colorful brochure depicting Discovery Day — October 12—with a fleet of three vessels each titled as one of the beneficiaries, proudly flying the MPVS banner and sailing on a Carmel Bay blue sea. This intriguing bit of sketching as well as description of tantalizing merchandise to be sold at Tombola is credited to the efforts of several persons, among whom are listed Mrs. Earl M. Oren, liaison officer of MPVS to the symphony association board, and Colonel C. H. du Val, office manager of the association. An interesting note is that Mrs. Stanley Cummings, member of the violin section of the symphony orchestra, hand-colored the blazing red flags and pennants of the ships tossing over the rolling blue waves on each and every one of the 1,200 flyers distributed to association members.

Open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., the one dollar Tombola donation entitles each ticket holder to drawings for door prizes. Tickets for this Discovery Day event may be obtained in advance from Mrs. Carl Ristau, ticket chairman (372-5575), or by writing MPVS, P. O. Box 2004, Carmel. Tickets

Physicist Came Here To Retire Because Of Aldous Huxley

BY CAROL VAN DEN BERG

A new arrival to Carmel from Denmark is Christian Volf, an internationally known physicist. He recently retired and moved, bag and baggage, to California. When asked why he and Mrs. Volf chose Carmel rather than Europe as their home, he replied, "Because my closest friend, Aldous Huxley, raved so much about the beauty of Carmel that I came to see Carmel, and decided to remain."

"In my retirement," Volf said, with delight, "I plan to do as little as possible. But my wife is taking care of mailing out my last theory, the Acoustic Reflex Theory, to the world university libraries. And outside of that, I intend to smoke good cigars—the only sport I've

Mrs. Volf is an attractive, gracious woman. Her home was originally in Columbus, Ohio. In the past, she has served as secretary for several United States generals.

MEMORABILIA OF CARMEL DESIRED

The Carmel Arts Commission appeals to all Carmelites for memorabilia of general interest which has to do with early Carmel for the display at Sunset Center which will be a part of the city's 50th anniversary celebration in October. All items loaned will be securely guarded. Anyone having items of interest which they wish to contribute for the exhibit may phone Mrs. Barbara Norberg (624-3394) or Mrs. Madeleine Powers Leonl (624-2190).

The arts commission also needs volunteer "sitters" for the Young People's Art Museum at Sunset on a continuing basis in order that the interesting exhibits of children's art may be seen.

50 Years Ago in Carmel

—THIS WEEK—

THE CHARM OF CARMEL

By A. Carmelite

What is the charm of Carmel? What is it that brings people here—some of them time and time again—and influences many to remain, purchase property and build homes?

One of the most pleasing charms of Carmel, to me, has been the opportunity to meet and become acquainted with persons from all parts of the world whom even to have met is something to boast of.

Here come great artists, writers, teachers and musicians — individuals who have done and are doing things. We also get some of the people, who, because of some particular hobby are termed "freak." With the "rationals" and the "freaks," distinguished visitors mingle freely.

Most desirable friends are the permanent residents. They are not in the "great" or "freak" classes, but they are in and of and for Carmel.

It is this environment of ever-changing visitors and cultural residents that makes for some of "the charm of Carmel."

SPLENDID EXHIBITION

The exhibition of work by students of the Carmel Summer School of Art opened in the Arts and Crafts Hall with a reception and private view on Tuesday evening. Over 200 canvases were hung representing work done in the ten-week session. They were of such uniform excellence that it was difficult to award prizes. These were given to Jane G. Powers, first; Ethel D. Turner, second. Honorable mention went to Bernita Lundy and Margaret Conklin.

The school is one that Carmel, also the Pacific Coast, may be proud of. Director this year was C. P. Townley.

CARMEL TAX RATE

The total Monterey County tax rate per $100 evaluation for residents of Carmel is $2.77. This is a reduction of six cents compared to last year.

SCHOOL NOTES

Attendance at Sunset School is the largest number of pupils ever enrolled. The trustees, W. L. Overstreet, president; Miss A. C. Edmunds, clerk; and Miss M. De-Neale Morgan, have had to buy 16 modern desks so that all the children may be accommodated. The "SCHOOL" danger signs, warning auto drivers, are now in place on San Carlos Street.

The Victor machine has proved a great incentive for the pupils to arrive on time. The day is started with music. Tardiness is at a minimum.

LA PLAYA ADDITION

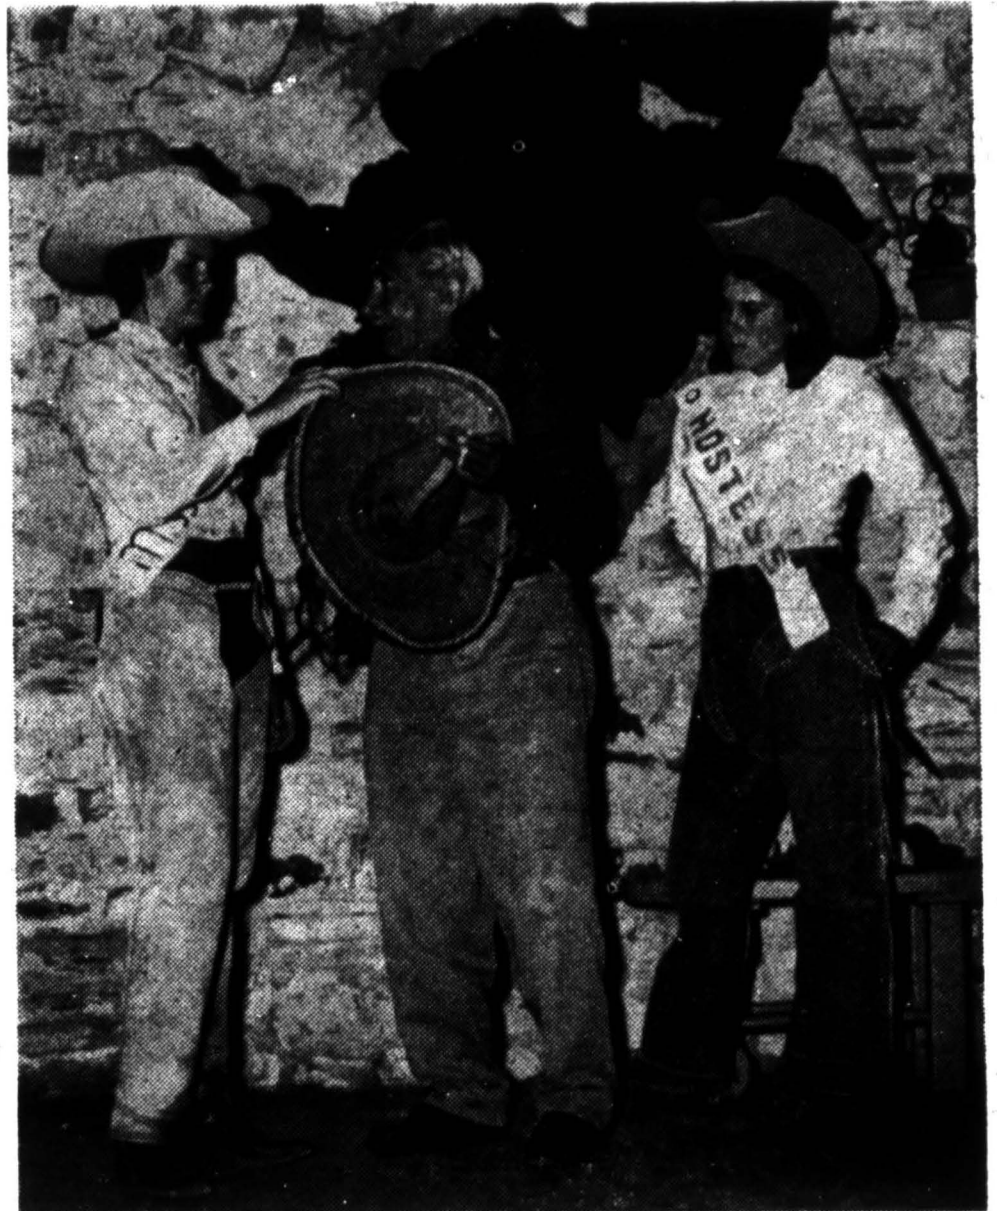

The addition to La Playa Hotel will be ready for occupancy on January 1. Four of the large new suites are already engaged for the coming year. The dining room extension and new garage will be completed in March.

PINE NEEDLES

Miss M. Pearl Guichard visited Carmel for a few hours on her way to her school at Lucia down the Coast. . . . The Charles Sumner Greene family of Pasadena is occupying the large Frye cottage at Carmel and Thirteenth. They will be here indefinitely. Four of the children are attending Sunset School. . . . Artist William Ritschel is returning East earlier than usual this year. He is in the midst of packing. . . . "The Man Who Came Back," a story by John Fleming Wilson, a former Carmel resident, has been dramatized and was recently successfully produced at The Playhouse in New York. . . . Things are a little quiet on Ocean Avenue this week. Tom Reardon and Doc Beck have gone to Tassajara to boil out for ten days. . . . Our friend and former townsman, Birney W. Adams, came over from Morgan Hill for the weekend. He reports his son, Floyd, is in good health.

NEED PRINTING?

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel 624-3881.

VALLEY FIESTA PERSONALITIES

Carmel Valley will renew its old Spanish traditions and explain its heritage Saturday at the "Fiesta de los Amigos" which will include a noon parade through the village, fiesta entertainment and food, also "art in action" from 1 to 5 p.m., on the grounds of Holman's Guest Ranch.

A Spanish costume ball, "El Baile Escondido," will be held that night at the ranch.

From A
Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

This library buys few paper-backs. Unless they are re-sewed and perhaps pre-bound, they are short lived and even during that time they are miserable to handle.
But there is one class of publication which is heaven-sent in a paper edition even for libraries and that is the yearly handbook type of thing. So here we have in paper binding the TRAVEL TRAILER VACATION TRAILER MANUAL. Of course it is autumn in parts of the country, but here we have our second summer, and this book is wonderful for the neophyte trailer traveler. All about where to buy a trailer, ways to hitch it to your car, how to travel, how to insure, and even the trailer clubs you can join so that you are not alone in your adventuring. The title of the book sounds a bit odd, but that's what it is, and the author is Robert Nulsen. So have a pleasant trip in this best of all seasons.

A new set of pieces by S. J.
Perelman is entitled CHICKEN INSPECTOR NO. 23. Let the jacket tell you what all the chuckling is about. It says, "Hark! What Voice is it that cries out 'Are you decent, Mensahib?' that asks 'Tel me clear, Parachutist Dear, Are You Man or Mouse?' that warns
'Caution—Caution—Beware of Excess Prophets'" and so on and so on. Perelman is always clever, always funny, and wise.

This business of the use of drugs on the college campuses gives us all cause for worry. Here now is 1 IN 7, DRUGS ON CAMPUS by Richard Goldstein. The author is a graduate student at Columbia University and has done a great deal of investigating before writing this book which began as an article for the campus magazine and grew to be a book. Fortunately, he begins his book with a general review of the entire problem but he also gives his reader, a generous resume of the vocabulary of the drug user and his attitude toward his friends and suppliers. Then he surveys the country, area by area, and tells exactly what is going on at the various colleges and universities. Check up on your own school and you may be surprised.

A beautiful book, copiously illustrated, is ANCIENT ARTS OF CENTRAL ASIA by Tamara Rice.
In that part of the world where Buddhist, Christian, and Moslem tradition meet and converge, are the paintings, the sculpture, the textiles and architecture which are the subjects of this book. Many illustrations are in color—the soft colors which ages have handled lightly and left in beauty.

Finally, you should know that we have two copies of Bernard Malamud's new novel THE FIXER.
It has had terrific buildups in most review media and is said to be his best novel. Two copies may keep you from waiting too long for your chance to read it. It is the story of a humble Jew in Russia who was accused of a murder which he did not commit. A hero he never wanted to be, but a hero he became nevertheless. Poor Yakov Bok!

The fall publishing looks good this year. We feel encouraged. You will too when they begin coming in stay on tippy-toe !!!

CANNY COUNSEL
by Sagacious Sal

Dear Sal,

I have an average happy marriage. And I'm not one who believes in a double standard of marriage. But my secretary and I have an understanding of each other that I didn't believe could be possible between two people.
Quite against my will, I'm falling in love with her. And I don't want to break up my home. What shall I do? Enclosed is the handwriting of my secretary and myself.

B.B.

Dear B.B.,

Every so often in life, a person will run into another person whose thinking so closely parallels or enhances his own that they can communicate on many levels — spiritually, mentally, emotionally.
And because of the new freedoms of women working outside the home, etc., many women and men have been thrown into close contact with each other. And this entails personal responsibility. Our laws governing marriage and the family can't be violated. More than ever before, people need to preserve their integrity, respect commitments of others, and set just limits on relationships. Happiness involves more than mere "wine, women, and song."

The handwriting of you and your girl friend are almost identical.
You are both reserved, intellectual people, with considerable discipline in your personalities. You ask,
"What shall I do?" And you already know. Stop this friendship with your secretary before it completely disrupts many other lives.

Anyone may write to Sagacious Sal. However, her consideration is based on handwriting, so letters must be handwritten and addressed to Box G-1, Carmel. Writers need not identify themselves other than by a pseudonym.

Steinbeck Film Featuring Local Scenery Coming

"Flight," an unusual motion picture based on a story by John Steinbeck, who appears in the film to tell of the story's background, will receive its first showing at the Steinbeck Theatre on Cannery Row on September 30.

Unusual it is in many respects, and distinctly a non-Hollywood type of picture. In the first place, all the actors are amateurs and, with the exception of Barnaby Conrad, who wrote the script and appears briefly, all are Mexican-Americans from Monterey County. Pepe, the lead, is played by a youth from Gonzales, Efrain Ramirez. The role of his sister, Maria, is taken by a girl also from Gonzales.

In addition to the fact that San Francisco Films Inc., headed by Lloyd Morain, shot it on a small budget raised through some 130 investors, "Flight" was filmed in areas inextricably identified with this section's Spanish-Mexican heritage. Seneca Canyon, as well as other parts of Stuyvesant Fish's Rancho Palo Corona were used, also the Morains' property between Palo Corona and Rancho San Carlos. Soberanes Point, too, is pictured in its rugged beauty.

"Flight" sensitively traces certain events and developments in the Torres family and in particular the life of Pepe, their eldest son, who accidentally kills a man in Monterey around the turn of the century, takes to the wilderness of the Santa Lucia mountains to become first half-animal, later a man. Following its showing at the International Edinburgh Film Festival, the Evening Dispatch commented, "Its impact is so real that the inhumanity of the man-hunters and defenselessness of their quarry become personal issues." The London Film Festival pronounced it an outstanding film of the year.

Louis Bispo is the director and Laurindo Almeida composed and plays the music.

The premiere at 8:30 on September 30 will be shown at regular prices but reservations are advisable. Thereafter, there will be two screenings, at 7 and 9 p.m., through October 4.

MEDICAL ASSISTANTS BENEFIT

The Community Hospital Cobalt Cancer Fund will be the beneficiary of proceeds from the annual benefit fashion show and dinner of the Medical Assistants of the Monterey Peninsula to be held September 29 at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. Dr. Joseph Turner will be commentator for the fashion show of the organization, whose president is Mrs. Richard Zury.

Cocktails will be served at 7 p.m., dinner at 8 p.m., according to Mrs. George Gaskin, chairman of the event. Reservations may be made by phoning Mrs. Gaskin at 624-1864 days, 394-8889 evenings; or Mrs. Quackenbush, 373-4461 days, 372-8042 evenings. Tickets are $7.50 each.

NEITHER OLD NOR NEW JUST RIGHT! Carmel charm plus an ideal location are but two of the many desirable features of this fine home. Pleasing contemporary rustic architecture finished in driftwood tones, a fine corner site south of Ocean Avenue three blocks from the beach, and a view are other important details. Three bedrooms (one for a study?), two baths, a separate diningroom with patio access, a compact kitchen and a spacious livingroom with interesting hearth and beamed ceiling . . . in fact, all rooms have redwood beams combined with smooth plaster walls. All closets are unusually ample and the bedrooms have units of fine cabinetry. A minimum-care garden and secluded patio add to the desirability of this "quality" property.

MOST DESIRABLE AREA FOR VERY ATTRACTIVE HOME: Situated on tranquil Palou Avenue in a block of charming Carmel homes, this nearly-new residence represents those sought-after qualities that make an ideal home for a retired couple . . . minimum-care garden, sheltered entry-patio, heavy shake roof, lavish use of used brick, and curved aggregate walk are some of the exterior details. The interior offers two bedrooms, two baths, diningroom with storage units, completely-equipped tiled kitchen, and inviting livingroom, with beamed ceiling, used brick hearth, and interesting mantel combined with bookshelves. Carpeting, draperies, inside shutters and kitchen units included in the price $44,500.

CARMEL VALLEY HOBBY FARM: Completely equipped for raising of pheasants and other game birds, this one-acre property provides a most comfortable two-bedroom home with ideal location . . . secluded yet easily accessible via a find road. With a few fruit trees, a well, some river frontage and several storage buildings, an owner will find this a most satisfactory homesite or weekend or "project" property . . . $26,500.

EXCELLENT VALUES IN RANCHO RIO VISTA:

NO. 1. Make an offer on a fine acre building site . . . owner has left the area and wants to cash out his equity and has asked us to submit all reasonable offers. Terms available.

NO. 2. Complete the building of a large family adobe home . . . owners have been transferred to another area and are offering their partially-finished home at a realistic price . . . $39,950.

Real EstateReal Estate*A VERY HOSPITABLE HOME IN PEBBLE BEACH—OCEAN VIEWS

Now here, at last, is a house that was really planned for entertaining as well as for family enjoyment! The long, low ranch-style house, with the circular drive in front is so attractive even from the street. Stucco and redwood, with a heavy shake roof, electric opener on the oversize double garage.

The 36 ft. living room has vaulted ceilings and a lovely view of Carmel Bay and Pt. Lobos, handsomely reflected in the big mirror over the fireplace. A 40 ft. lanai room, glass enclosed, has a delightful orientation to the rear terraced garden. The dining room—15 x 18 ft.—has its own fireplace and built-ins and is served by an efficient kitchen.

There are 3 bedrooms, one 16 x 12 ft., one 22 x 16 ft. and another smaller one. Two baths, of course.

A perfect home for entertaining, whether it's your teen agers' friends or your own. Immediate possession, too. When can you see it? Price Only $59,500.

SERENITY IN THIS TROUBLED OLD WORLD

This is the free gift which goes with this property, which isn't just a home, but a tranquil way of life, one of our favorite houses in all the lovely, sunny Carmel Valley.

To begin, it's 2.2 acres of the Valley's most desirable features: a meadow ringed around by low, spreading oak trees and secluded canyons, where the deer, racoons, foxes and a million birds find shelter. Then, the development was carefully planned so that the changing patterns of light and shadow on the Santa Lucias are a familiar part of your environment.

There is this house. A Spanish colonial adobe with covered verandas and brick terraces and lovely windows with deep sills and views of the gardens and lawns as well as those gorgeous old hills and the fascinating oaks. The living room is spacious, beautifully proportioned with 10 ft. beamed ceilings and fireplace bordered by antique tile. Quarry tile floors. Glassed in delight of a terrace room. Sunny kitchen. Master suite of connecting bedrooms, dressing room, bath. Huge studio, two more bedrooms and a bath in another wing.

The guest house, with view so unbelievable you'll swear it's artificial. The swimming pool. Built for swimming (9 ft. deep under the regulation board, 40 ft. long). Wonderful patios or arbors around it for loungers. Double garage. Approach by a bosky lane at the end of the road. Magnificent white oak circled by a raised brick flower bed which seems to shelter the whole charming complex.

Even if you could find another site so beautiful (which we seriously doubt), you could never replace at anything like the price of $100,000 the quality and serenity of this unusual property.

May we show you? It's such a pleasure!

First Lady Lauds Conservation Of County Coastline

First Lady.

On the way down the coast, the pupils of one-room Palo Colorado School, with their principal, Nancy Bottero, stood outside holding a welcoming banner they had made for the occasion.

Several hundred persons gathered at the north end of Bixby Creek bridge for the actual dedication ceremony, including 42 students from Middle School, members of the stream-lined reading class at the Grade 5-8 facility, also, Assistant Principal Chapple and Miss Jo Brazell. Four of her pupils in this class, Charles Schetter, Tony Hittleman, Glen Harnish and Jim Arm, held copies of California's Scenic Highway Bill which had been sent to the class by Senator Farr. They were waiting to have them signed by the important personages who came to dedicate the highway.

It was at this same site that 34 years ago a small girl, Audrey Mawdsley of Carmel, now Mrs. Mike Cordova of Campbell and a teacher, cut the ribbon that opened the bridge arching high above a beautiful beach. She is the daughter of Carmel's former city clerk, Peter Mawdsley.

Following a brief welcome by Nathaniel Owings of Big Sur, who was accompanied to the dedication by his wife, Margaret, member of the California Park Commission, Senator Farr said:

"Little did we think or dream, way back in 1930, when the scenic highway concept was conceived at the home of Nicholas Roosevelt, high up on the Santa Lucia mountains of this coast, that some day we should be honored by having our nation's First Lady dedicate this road as California's first official state scenic highway."

He gave credit to the Monterey County Planning Commission (Chairman Keith Evans of Carmel was among the group at the bridge), also county supervisors for aiding in the establishment of the state's first scenic highway "and particularly Supervisor Tom Hudson of Point Lobos who worked so hard to make this a reality."

In dedicating the 24-ton boulder bearing a bronze plaque designed by Nathaniel Owings, Mrs. Johnson was silhouetted against the coastal hills with the ocean below. She referred to the preservation of this coastline as an example of "partnership between open space and man's use" and entrusted the maintenance of the beauty of Monterey County's coastline "to the generations to follow."

Noticeable in the group of local Sierra Club members at the dedication was Ansel Adams of Carmel Highlands, whose photographs of the coastline are nationally famed.

Of particular interest was blond-haired Robinson Jeffers, six years old, with his parents Donnan and Lee Jeffers of Carmel. On the bronze plaque commemorating the dedication of California's first scenic highway are inscribed lines written by his grandfather, America's great poet, the late Robinson Jeffers of Carmel Point.

The inscription reads:

"I gazing at the boundaries of granite and spray, the established sea-marks, felt behind me mountain and plain, the immense breadth of the continent, before me the mass and doubled stretch of water."

It is the second verse of the poem "Continent's End."

After the dedication, as Mrs. Johnson was escorted to her waiting automobile by Senator Farr, she was introduced to Kathryn Stedman, author of "Skyline Landscape," a booklet prepared for the Committee For Green Foothills which seeks to preserve the open space of the San Francisco Peninsula. She also was introduced to Gerald Barron of Carmel Riviera, 12th Congressional District Democratic candidate, and Mrs. Barron.

Then the nation's petite, brown-haired First Lady, clad in a coral suit, and her party continued down what she termed "a bright, shining thread" free of billboards and neon signs, "linking, bridging and weaving the mountain range and the Pacific."

She was scheduled to make a short stop at Wildbird, the spectacular cliffside Nathaniel Owings' home south of Big Sur before continuing to Hearst Castle at San Simeon where she was guest of honor at a reception last night given by Governor and Mrs. Brown.

As she traversed the Coast Road, preserved by the efforts of the people of Monterey County, she made our coastline, as she said, "mine to remember in my mind."

"What you have done with it makes all your countrymen proud," she had emphasized earlier

Stock Market Notes

By Hugh Hannon

"It seems to be growing more apparent that the growing probability of tax increase does not fore-shadow any early or significant easing in the extreme tightness of money. Would-be borrowers will find it hard, for many, many months yet, to line up all the credit they would want for a home, speculation in stocks, and in some cases even for an installment purchase."

This quote is from an internationally known expert on interest rates. That the Federal government had to pay 6% to borrow money this week seems to bear his opinion out.

Will this situation lead to a recession? One conservative writer thinks as follows: "Reducing the money supply in a war stimulated economy can lead, when carried too far, to classic panic condition and severe economic maladjustments that can lead to a major depression. This is precisely what the stock market feared this August. I did not believe then and do not believe now that there is any real danger of this happening."

Many writers see higher taxes as the only way to pay for the Vietnam war and the only way to bring down interest rates. So maybe it will be a while till interest rates start going down; but they are now at almost a 50-year high.

So let's take a look at utilities. This group led the market down, and theirs is the oldest (16 months) and the deepest (nearly 27%) decline of all stock market groups. They went down because most people own them for income and rising interest rates in saving and loan accounts and bonds have diverted money that would have bought and thus driven up the utility stocks.

The next step will be a hint of easing of interest rates and money will then flow into utility stocks again. It's hard to find a safer group, and their long-term growth prospects are as good as the prospect that more and more people will turn on stoves and lights.

Hugh Hannon is with Irving Lundborg & Co. in Carmel.

in her visit.

On another visit here, it is hoped that Mrs. Johnson may see Carmel, a city which will celebrate its 50th anniversary on October 31.

The natural beauty of our community, preserved for over half a century, has indeed inspired "poets, and writers and thinkers" as Mrs. Johnson said, also artists.

It is these creative persons, working with dedicated citizens, who have made Carmel a shining example to the nation in the field of "conservation-beautification—call it what you will... a wonderful part of the world to live in."

Council Miffed About Offer For Police Station

Considerably miffed that the agent who represents the two men who made an offer to purchase the present site of the city's police station and corporation yard did not appear at the adjourned meeting Tuesday night set especially to consider this matter, the city council unanimously struck further consideration of the sale from the council calendar.

Councilman Eben Whittlesey said he had particularly requested financial statements from August Nieto who represents Saul B. Weingarten and Stanley Weiss, the prospective purchasers. Mr. Whittlesey also stated he had asked that the period of time the purchasers proposed to pay no interest to the city while paying off the $90,000 purchase price for the two-lot site at Mission and Seventh, be shortened.

The council accepted with regret the resignation of Brigadier General Frank Dorn from the arts commission because he must be in the East for several months in connection with personal business. Joseph Danysh was approved to take his place. An art patron, he is the former head of the California School of Arts and Crafts, also headed California's WPA Art Project, and with his wife, Beth, is proprietor of Casa Manana, a specialized home furnishings business.

Council approval was given the city clerk to sign an actuarial contract for reevaluation of the city employees' retirement system as required every four years by state law. Second reading and adoption was given an ordinance accepting requirements of the state penal code relating to training of Carmel police officers. Preparation of an ordinance to continue the forestry commission for two years was authorized.

City Clerk Hugh Bayless presented Mayor Stephen Grant with a plaque from the American Automobile Association honoring Carmel's "exceptional record" of no pedestrian traffic fatalities within the city for 21 years.

The council then adjourned to executive session, at the request of Building Inspector Fred Cunningham, to consider proposed litigation on zoning violations within the city.

The council will reconvene in another adjourned session on Tuesday night at 8 p.m. This will be a closed meeting to consider employment of fire department personnel, according to Fire Commissioner Whittlesey.

ROBBERY IN POST OFFICE

On Thursday night last week, Dr. Charles N. Pearson reported to Carmel police that he had been the victim of a robbery by two clean-cut youths at about 11:30 p.m. in the Carmel Post Office. He said he noticed the young men when he

Symphony Liaison Causes Conflict

A conflict arose at the meeting last week of the Carmel Arts Commission over someone to serve as liaison between the Monterey County Symphony Association and the commission.

Commissioner Barbara Norberg stated that, since Carmel is the major supporter of the symphony through provision of space at Sunset Center for rehearsals and concerts, the symphony association should appoint someone to serve as a liaison with the arts commission. Commissioner Patricia Faul, saw no need for such liaison since the symphony association is countywide. Chairman Geza St. Galy suggested a meeting between the two groups to discuss possibilities of working together.

Mrs. Norberg informed other commissioners that the Friends of Art has provided two showcases for the historical room at Sunset Center. She gained approval of the expenditure of $40-45 from arts commission budgeted funds to pay Neil Weston for repairs to the cases. She also reported the sum of $611.94 in the Friends of Art treasury.

Mrs. Norberg also was of the opinion that a concert by Pianist Adolph Drescher, scheduled for November 6 at Sunset Center auditorium, should be postponed for a year as the date is in conflict with the production of "Pipe Dream" authorized by the city council as part of Carmel's 50th anniversary celebration.

entered the building. As he was leaving they jumped him from behind, knocked him to the floor and fled with his wallet containing $30. He was able to supply police a good description of his assailants.
